Save Time and Money with Technology!

The AGC—Houston Chapter and iSqFt invite you to attend a free Network Information session for bidders on commercial construction projects in the Houston area.

Learn how technology can make your bidding efforts easier and more cost-effective—and eliminate the need for regular trips to the plan room, the GCs' offices, or the local reprographer. You will also learn how to put your business in front of leading General Contractors who use the iSqFt Network to look for bidders, distribute bid invitations, and host documents for their upcoming construction projects in the area.
